SOURCE EVALUATIONS ARE DEFINITIVE. APPRAISAL OF CONTENT IS TENTATIVE

1. The refuelling station for fishing craft belonging to the co-operative Jednosc Rybacka, and located on the Wilson Wharf (Nabrzeze Wilsona) in the port of Gdynia, only supplies crude oil to the boats of this concern. Formerly small coastal shipping units also bunkered here.
2. The tanks are located underground. Two outlets are visible; only one boat can bunker at a time. The pumping speed is two tons of oil per 15 minutes.
3. The quality of the oil supplied from this station is far superior to that of the CPN (Central Petroleum Products) store at Oksywie, the latter being adulterated.
4. A small hut, which serves as an office, and an oil gauge such as those at gasoline stations are on this site.
